UNITED STATES AIR FORCE

COLONEL SEAN T. BRENNAN

Col Sean T. Brennan is the Commander of the 147th Medical Group, Ellington Field Joint Reserve Base, Texas. He is responsible for leading, organizing, training, and equipping the aeromedical, nursing, dental, bio-environmental, and public health activities for the 147th Attack Wing, Texas Air National Guard. He also serves as the chief medical staff advisor to line commanders.

Col Brennan was born in Hartford, Connecticut and graduated from Berry College in Rome, Georgia in 1994. He direct-commissioned into the Army Reserve in 2000 as a physician assistant, and later earned his Master of Physician Assistant Studies degree from the University of Nebraska. He deployed in support of Operation ENDURING FREEDOM and transferred to the Connecticut Air National Guard in 2008. As a traditional Guardsman, he has assisted in mission readiness for multiple deployments to various locations throughout southwest Asia as well as humanitarian missions to Haiti. He has provided support for state disasters such as Hurricane Sandy and Winter Storm Alfred. He was the previous Medical Commander of the 103d and assumed command of the 147th Medical Group in December of 2021.
